

This site uses cookies in order to improve your experience with this site. By clicking accept, you are agreeing to our use of cookies. Accept

Peter Lang

Cultural Linguistics Applied

Trends, Directions and Implications

Series: DASK – Duisburger Arbeiten zur Sprach- und Kulturwissenschaft / Duisburg Papers on Research in Language and Culture

Edited By Arne Peters and Neele Mundt

This book offers a range of empirically-based case studies in the field of cultural linguistics and neighbouring disciplines such as intercultural pragmatics and language pedagogy. The first section explores intercultural communication and cross-linguistic/cross-cultural investigations in settings such as Brazil, Nigeria, Cameroon, Tanzania, Morocco, France and Canada. The second section focuses on applications of cultural linguistics in the field of foreign language teaching. By drawing on English as a Foreign Language and English as a Second Language contexts, the case studies presented further examine the ramification of cultural linguistics in the language classroom, enabling a better understanding of culture-specific conceptual differences between learners' first and target language(s).

Book (EPUB)

ISBN: 978-3-631-84332-1

DOI:

Availability: Available

Subjects: Linguistics

Formats: EPUB, PDF, Hardback

Redeem Token

Recommended Retail Price

CHF (Swiss Franc – Price including VAT) SFR.81.00 /

EURD (EuroD – Price including VAT) €69.95 /

EURA (EuroA – Price including VAT) €71.90 /

EUR* (Euro – Price exclusive VAT) €65.40 /

GBP* (British Pound Sterling – Price exclusive VAT) £54.00 /

USD* (US Dollar – Price exclusive VAT) $78.95

Berlin, Bern, Bruxelles, New York, Oxford, Warszawa, Wien, 2021. 282 pp., 8 fig. col., 16 fig. b/w, 34 tables.

Table of Contents >

About the Author >

Subjects >

Table of contents

🔒 Cover

🔒 Title Page

🔒 Acknowledgements

🔒 About the author

🔒 About the book

🔒 This eBook can be cited

🔒 Contents

🔒 Editors and contributors

🔒 Cultural linguistics applied: Status quo and new directions (Neele Mundt and Arne Peters)

🔒 Section 1 Advancing cultural linguistics: Case studies and their implications

🔒 Jeitinho as a cultural conceptualisation in Brazilian Portuguese (Ulrike Schröder)

- 🔒 Cultural perceptions of diseases and the nomenclatures of HIV, AIDS and Ebola in the Igbo language (Herbert Igboanusì)
- 🔒 On the metaphoric conceptualisation of bribe in West and East African countries (Lozzi Martial Meutem Kamtchueng)
- 🔒 The linguistic and cultural representation of emotions in English and Moroccan Arabic (Khalid El asri)
- 🔒 Towards a richer description of advising in English and in French: Associations and individual differences (Stephanie Lerat)
- 🔒 Section 2 Language teaching through the lens of cultural linguistics
 - 🔒 Conceptual metaphors in foreign language classrooms (Ying-hsueh Hu)
 - 🔒 Reconceptualising L1 conceptual structures for editing collocational errors in English as a Second Language (ESL) writing (Larysa Bobrova)
 - 🔒 Exploring L2 readers' metacultural competence through a video-based cooperative approach (Jennifer Schluer)
 - 🔒 A preliminary evaluation of students' intercultural communicative competence through reflective writing (Chiuhui Wu)
 - 🔒 Flexibility, complexity, diversity: Teaching for intercultural communication in the ELF-oriented classroom (Christie Heike)

Terms & Conditions
Job vacancies

Contact

Job Vacancies

Terms & Conditions

Contact Us

Privacy Policy

Access brought to you by:
Victoria University of Wellington

Game Texas Hold'em Poker
Would you like to be regularly informed by e-mail about our new publications in your fields of interest?

Subscribe to our newsletter

on Facebook

on Twitter