

Asian Studies Development Program
A joint project of the East-West Center and the University of Hawai'i

15 November 2022

Dear Anthika Manowang,

We are pleased to inform you that your abstract Political Movement of Thai Youth Under the Imagined Community for the 30th Asian Studies Development Program's National Conference to be held 9-11 March 2023, has been accepted, and we look forward to your presentation on this year's theme Resilient Futures: Using Asian Studies to Envision a More Humanely Shared World.

Please register for the conference by December 20th to receive the early registration conference rate ($300) by going to <https://www.eastwestcommunity.org/ASDP-NC2023>. We will be meeting in person at the InterContinental Kansas City at the Plaza, Kansas City, Missouri. Information about reservations, field trips and our keynote speaker can be found at <https://www.eastwestcenter.org/events/2023-asdp-30th-national-conference>.

Our keynote will be Prasenjit Duara, who is the Oscar Tang Chair of East Asian Studies at Duke University. Dr. Duara will be presenting "Sacred Ecologies: Sustainability and Transcendence in Contemporary Asia" at this year's conference. He is the author of Culture, Power, and the State: Rural North China, 1900-1942, which won the Fairbank Prize of the AHA and the Levenson Prize of the AAS. He is the author of several other books and edited collections, and his most recent works are The Crisis of Global Modernity: Asian Traditions and a Sustainable Future (Cambridge, 2014) and the co-edited collection with Viren Murthy and Andrew Satori, A Companion to Global Historical Thought (Wiley, 2014).

With all good wishes until we see you in person in March,

Matthew Ruane
