

TAMKANG

REVIEW

淡江評論

Special Issue

After the World: New Possibilities for Comparative Literature

- | | |
|--|---|
| Samuel Weber | West of Eden: Carrying On |
| Ali Behdad | A Comparative Frame of Mind |
| Hitoshi Oshima | The World According to Nishida Kitaro:
A New Proposal |
| Guy Beauregard,
Duncan McColl Chesney,
Chi-she Li, and
David M. Stewart | An Aesthetic Education in the Era of
Globalization: A Forum |
| Joan Chiung-huei Chang | Problematics of Translation in Ha Jin's
Poetry: Poet, Critic, Translator |
| Shih-Yen Huang | Translation and World Literature in
Goethe's West-East Divan |

Literary/Cultural Studies

- | | |
|---------------------|---|
| Lia Wen-ching Liang | Navigating Between Shakespeare and Jingju :
Wu Hsing-Kuo's Li Er Zaici |
| Ji Hao | Reception of Du Fu in the Anglophone
World and the Issue of Poetic Transparency |